Location

The Maltese Islands also offer a lot to do before and after dives with superbly sunny weather, expansive beaches, a thriving nightlife and 7,000 years of intriguing history. Megaliths, medieval dungeons and Calypso's Cave – The Maltese Islands are positively mythic. The narrow meandering streets of their towns and villages are crowded with Renaissance cathedrals and Baroque palaces. As the countryside is dotted with the oldest known human structures in the world, the Islands have rightly been described as an open-air museum.

The Dive Centre and accommodation is located in Sliema, with plenty of restaurants serving Mediterranean cuisine and food from around the world as well as excellent nightlife just around the corner.

Accommodation

The Plaza Hotel (Also known as Plaza Regency Hotels), is located just down the road from dive center. The hotel is by the waterfront and has 2 smaller swimming pools, 2 bars a restaurant and a pizzeria. The rooms and beds are comfortable, cleaned daily and with Aircon and hot water.

This is only a selection of the many dive sites represented on this particular destination. The diving is dictated by the safeness of the environment.

Um El Faroud Is a huge Libyan wreck at 10,000 tons which looms out of the blue after a thrilling swim in the blue from the shore. Unfortunately because of the swim to and from the wreck, this reduces the time on the wreck to about 10 to 15 minutes if you are diving on a single cylinder, especially if there is a slight current to battle to or from the wreck. But nevertheless, it is WELL worth it! The wreck is beautiful and it secretive mystic glow will follow you through the easy penetrations that waits all over the wreck. Besides amazing penetration options, the wreck is covered in sea life including scorpion fish, barracuda, sea bream and tuna.

The Imperial Eagle carried about 70 passengers and 10 cars. It made its maiden voyage in 1958 and was taken out of commission in 1968, her claim to fame being the sister ship to Jacques Cousteau's 'Calypso'. After about a 15 minute boat ride, you reach a buoy. Heading down the shot line to about 25 metres you can leave the line and swim across a valley to the wreck. The Imperial Eagle sits upright on the sand looking absolutely fantastic. You can tour right round her and through her corridors, ending up in what is the wheelhouse, of which only the wheel remains. Leaving the wreck with enough air, you have the option to swim through a cavern leading to a magnificent statue of Jesus Christ which was apparently blessed by Pope John Paul in 1990 and placed on the seabed to protect the fishermen of Malta.

Inland Sea/Blue Hole

Entering the water at the Inland Sea, the first part of the dive passes through an arch in the rock where the deep blue, clear water is the attraction, it doesn't sound like much, but it is really a breathtaking experience approaching the deep blue ocean from an inland water filled hole. After exiting the cavern, you will find yourself hanging on a wall dropping down to 60 meters, which does not make the experience less incredible! The reef is covered in life, including larger fish such as tuna. Further around the wall there is a small cavern to explore. Depending on the conditions, this dive can be finished by entering "The Blue Hole", a sink hole in the limestone, to do your safety stop and then surface in the inland. The walk back is a bit of a workout but well worth it, as the dive is nothing short of awesome.
